

Conferences

Participation in the formal education settings is mandatory. All residents are expected to attend these conferences, arriving on time and staying until their conclusion. Professional attire is expected at all times, and physicians should represent themselves professionally whenever presenting. Conferences are learning opportunities, and with schedules prepared in advance, the resident staff should be prepared to expand upon the educational opportunity through participation including question and answer sessions, as well as readiness for unannounced quizzes.