Students and faculty from LSUHSC volunteered at ¿Que Pasa? Festival in October 2016, distributing information on breast cancer, diabetes, and more. The team showcased the opportunities LSU Health New Orleans provides for students of all ages and teachers. They shared information about the K-12 and undergraduate programs such as the school partnerships and summer internships. Children enjoyed dressing up like scientists and learning how to take blood pressure readings.