

The Department of Genetics is pleased to announce, Judy Crabtree, Ph.D. has been named Director of the School of Medicine Genomics Core. The SOM Genomics Core is committed to providing quality service by fulfilling the genomic needs of the research community at LSUHSC in a consistent, efficient and cost-effective fashion. The Core provides scientific support for our investigators throughout the entire process of genomics analysis – from the initial experimental design to identifying an appropriate contract partner to the final computational analysis and visualization of results.

We know the SOM Genomics Core will flourish under the direction of Dr. Crabtree!
