Otology - Neurotology

Peter Rigby, MD

533 Bolivar Street, 5th Floor
See Calendar for Specific Dates
TBA (Inservice Review)
Mondays 4:00 – 6:30 pm (Alternate with Plastics)
Lecture Topics and Relevant Reference Chapters from Bailey’s Textbook

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Topic</th>
<th>Chapters</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| Anatomy and Physiology of Hearing                                                       | Middle Ear and Temporal Bone Trauma
Chapter 109                               |
| Vestibular Function and Anatomy                                                         | Cholesteatoma
Chapter 110                               |
| Anatomy and Physiology of the Eustachian Tube                                           | Surgery of the Mastoid and Petrosa
Chapter 111                               |
| Balance Function Tests                                                                  | Reconstruction of the Tympanic Membrane and Ossicular Chain
Chapter 112                              |
| Auditory Function Tests                                                                 | Implantable Hearing Devices for Mild to Moderately Severe Hearing Loss
Chapter 113                               |
| Neurophysiological Intraoperatative Monitoring                                          | Otosclerosis
Chapter 114                               |
| Imaging Studies of the Temporal Bone                                                    | Perilymphatic Fistula
Chapter 115                               |
| Infections of the External Ear                                                          | Acute Paralysis of the Facial Nerve
Chapter 117                               |
| Neoplasms of the Ear and Lateral Skull Base                                              | Otologic Manifestations of Systemic Disease
Chapter 119                               |
| Congenital Atresia                                                                      | Genetic Hearing Loss
Chapter 120                               |
| Otitis Media with Effusion                                                               | Infections of the Labyrinth
Chapter 121                               |
| Intratemporal and Intracranial Complications of Otitis Media                           | Noise-induced Hearing Loss
Chapter 122                               |
|                                                                                         | Ototoxic Drugs
Chapter 123                               |
|                                                                                         | Cerebellopontine Angle Tumors
Chapter 124                               |
|                                                                                         | Sudden Sensory Hearing Loss
Chapter 125                               |
|                                                                                         | Tinnitus
Chapter 126                               |
|                                                                                         | Immunologic Disorders of the Inner Ear
Chapter 127                               |
|                                                                                         | Aging and the Auditory and Vestibular System
Chapter 128                               |
|                                                                                         | Cochlear Implants
Chapter 129                               |
|                                                                                         | Hearing Aids and Assistive Listening Devices
Chapter 130                               |
|                                                                                         | Evaluation of the Dizzy Patient
Chapter 131                               |
|                                                                                         | Peripheral Vestibular Disorders
Chapter 132                               |
|                                                                                         | Central Vestibular Disorders
Chapter 133                               |
|                                                                                         | Chapter 134                               |