School-Based Health Center Awareness Month

February is School-Based Health Center Awareness Month, which provides everyone an opportunity to learn how school-based health centers (SBHCs) revolutionize the way children and adolescents access healthcare services.

SBHCs offer medical and behavioral health services, creating a partnership between SBHCs and doctors, specialists and mental health providers. Located within schools or on school grounds, SBHCs allow students to receive services without sacrificing school time and parents/guardians' time away from work because they do not need to bring their children to appointments.

LSUHSC Department of Pediatrics, Adolescent Medicine operates a school-based health center at New Orleans Charter Science and Mathematics High School. Visit us at:

<https://www.medschool.lsuhschool.edu/adolescenthealth/sbhc.aspx>.

The Southern Center for Adolescent and Young Adult Health Equity at LSU Health provides School Health Services at the New Orleans Charter Science and Mathematics High School. Please call 504-359-1131 for an appointment.

The Bureau of Family Health's Adolescent School Health Program oversees centers in 58 elementary, middle or high schools across Louisiana. Last year, parents/guardians of more than 35,000 students signed a consent allowing access to SBHC services. SBHCs conducted over 108,000 visits and served more than 23,000 students across the state.
