

WOMEN'S HEALTH RESEARCH CONSORTIUM

Mission Statement

The Women's Health Research Consortium (WHRC) strives to create a collaborative venue between medical students, residents, and faculty to promote the production of high-quality research projects. The committee will provide the information needed to guide medical students as they choose, start and complete high-quality research in the field of Women's Health.

Committee Includes

- Faculty Leader = Dr. Amelia Jernigan
- Faculty Leader = Dr. Stacey Scheib
- Faculty Leader = Dr. Judy Crabtree
- Faculty Leader = Dr. Rebekah Gee
- Resident Representative = Dr. Yetunde Akinde
- Statistician* = Dr. Andrew Chapple
- Senior Advisors to the Chair = (L4) Maya Roth and Saman Kamal
- Committee Chairs = (L3): Anwei Polly Gwan and Tina Nguyen
- Chairs Elect = (L2): Morgan Lanza and Katherine Henry

For projects with a PI in the Department of OB/GYN.*

Committee Meetings & Consortium Meetings will be held quarterly.

- Q1 - July - Sept.
- Q2 - Oct. - Dec.
- Q3 - Jan. - Mar.
- Q4 - Apr. - June

The goal of committee meetings will be to review current projects and assess status of each project. Any questions or concerns will be addressed with the appropriate team at project meetings.

The goal of consortium meetings will be to briefly discuss current projects and review essential topics in conducting research. The meeting must be attended by students currently involved in research, faculty on projects, and those interested in beginning a project. Consortium meetings are mandatory. After two consecutive unexcused absences, students will be removed from the Student Resources folder on the WHRC Google Drive.

Topics are presented in a two-year set:

- How to choose and write a research question + brainstorming session (yearly)
- How to write an abstract
- IRB basics
- Statistics
- Research design
- How to create a poster
- How to write a manuscript

Membership

Any student who is interested in Women's Health Research is eligible for membership into the Women's Health Medical Student Research Committee. There are no dues.
