Fred Rodriguez, Jr. (’75) recognized by his Alma Mater as Distinguished Alumnus from the College of Sciences. See story, page 24.

Meet the new Louisiana State Medical Society President, Katherine L. Williams (’94). See story, page 24.
It is a great honor to be the recipient of this year’s Spirit of Charity Award. I know that there are many deserving individuals for this recognition and to have been chosen is truly humbling. Julie and I came to LSU 35 years ago as a newly minted assistant professor of medicine with the dream of starting a family and beginning a career in academic medicine. Little did we know at the time that we had found our home in Louisiana. To be the dean of the LSU School of Medicine and to be receiving this award is truly more than I ever dreamed of achieving. To be acknowledged and recognized by your peers and colleagues is truly meaningful and deeply appreciated.

It is an even greater honor to be placed in the distinguished ranks of the past honorees, many of whom were among the most highly regarded physicians to have walked the halls and wards of our beloved Charity Hospital. These individuals inspired all of us. They were gifted teachers, exceptional clinicians, and accomplished scientists. It has been my good fortune to have been surrounded by many of these outstanding physicians whom I sought to emulate during my early years at Charity Hospital.

What made Charity Hospital truly outstanding were the physicians and staff who worked there—women and men who provided the absolute best of care to everyone irrespective of their station in life. These talented individuals devoted their careers to health, healing, caring, and compassion. Their maxim was “cum scientia caritas”—compassion empowered with knowledge. While some may equate “charity” with “free or indigent care,” I believe what “charity” truly stands for is “benevolent care.” It is wisely said that “the best way to find yourself is to lose yourself in the service of others.”

Today this tradition of selfless service continues at the University Medical Center. Our new academic hospital has enabled both LSU and Tulane together with LCMC to continue to fulfill our commitment to training the next generation of healthcare professionals for our state while developing innovative solutions for the health problems that devastate so many Louisiana families.

Sincerely,

Steve Nelson, MD, CM, FCCP, FACP

To the Alumni Office

I was taking pediatric cardiology call today at Vanderbilt University Medical Center and realized that all who were on call for pediatric cardiology are LSU New Orleans med school graduates. We decided to snap some photos.

Retirements

Bo Sanders (’64) recently announced that he will step down as Chair of the Department of Medicine.

Dr. Sanders has been a member of the LSU faculty for his entire professional career, first joining the Department of Medicine as an assistant professor immediately upon completing his fellowship in 1970. In the decades since then, he advanced in both rank and responsibility. He became Chief of the Section of Infectious Diseases in 1975, Acting Head of the Department of Medicine in 1988, and the Edgar Hull Professor and Chair of Medicine in 1989. He is currently the longest reigning Chair of Medicine in this country.

Dr. Sanders is a revered teacher who has inspired thousands of students, residents and fellows with his love of medicine. He has boundless energy and continues to maintain a busy clinical schedule. He is truly a gentleman and a scholar. He has authored 180 original peer reviewed papers, 31 book chapters and one book. He treats all patients, students, staff and colleagues with civility and respect.

Dr. Sanders has kindly agreed to remain in this position until a new chair is appointed. He will continue to oversee all departmental operations and help ensure a smooth transition of leadership. We are pleased that he will continue to remain on the faculty to teach and see patients, two of his greatest pleasures.

Please join us in thanking Dr. Sanders for his decades of dedicated service to this institution.

We are grateful to him for his tireless and unwavering commitment to the LSU School of Medicine and the entire medical profession.

Katherine L. Williams (’94) named President of the Louisiana State Medical Society

On Friday, January 24, 2020, Katherine L. Williams (’94) of Covington was sworn in as President of the Louisiana State Medical Society (LSMS). The LSMS House of Delegates, the official policy-making body for the organization, met the same day to discuss current health care issues, decide on a course of action for the coming year, and welcome its new leaders.

As president-elect for the Society, Dr. Williams spent 2019 learning more about the Society’s involvement in key health care issues at both the state and federal legislative levels.

“It is a privilege and an honor to serve as the 140th president of the Louisiana State Medical Society. I am extremely appreciative of this opportunity and the trust placed in me. I, along with the other members of the LSMS leadership team, am absolutely committed to doing what is best for this organization,” Williams said in her inauguration remarks.

Dr. Williams received her undergraduate degree from the University of New Orleans in Psychology and graduated from the Louisiana State University School of Medicine in New Orleans, Louisiana. She completed her residency at the LSU Medical Center in Obstetrics and Gynecology. She is board certified by the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology and practices OB/GYN with St. Tammany Parish Hospital, Fairway Medical Center, and Lakeview Regional Medical Center.

He will continue to oversee all operations of the department and help ensure a smooth transition of leadership. We are pleased that he will remain on the faculty as a tenured professor to continue his research, teaching and fundraising for the department. Please join us in thanking Dr. Osofsky for his leadership. We are deeply indebted for his years of service and significant contributions to the school, the community, and the profession.
